Stock exchanges does not provide or purport to provide any advice and shall not be liable to any person who enters into any business relationship with any stock broker of Stock exchanges and/or any third party based on any information contained in this document. Any information contained in this document must not be construed as business advice. No consideration to trade should be made without thoroughly understanding and reviewing the risks involved in such trading. If you are unsure, you must seek professional advice on the same. In considering whether to trade or authorize someone to trade for you, you should be aware of or must get acquainted with the following:

1. BASIC RISKS:

1.1 Risk of Higher Volatility: Volatility refers to the dynamic changes in price that a security/derivatives contract undergoes when trading activity continues on the Stock Exchanges. Generally, higher the volatility of a security/derivatives contract, greater is its price swings. There may be normally greater volatility in thinly traded securities / derivatives contracts than in active securities / derivatives contracts. As a result of volatility, your order may only be partially executed or not executed at all, or the price at which your order got executed may be substantially different from the last traded price or change substantially thereafter, resulting in notional or real losses.

1.2 Risk of Lower Liquidity: Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy and/or sell securities / derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities / derivatives contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some securities / derivatives contracts as compared to active securities / derivatives contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all.

1.2.1 Buying or selling securities / derivatives contracts as part of a day trading strategy may also result into losses, because in such a situation, securities / derivatives contracts may have to be sold / purchased at low / high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any open position or obligation to deliver or receive a security / derivatives contract.

1.3 Risk of Wider Spreads:

Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a security / derivatives contract and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid securities / derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation.

1.4 Risk-reducing orders:

The placing of orders (e.g., "stop loss" orders, or "limit" orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.

1.4.1 A "market" order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that, while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a "market" order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that security / derivatives contract.

1.4.2 A “limit” order will be executed only at the “limit” price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the customer receives price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all.

1.4.3 A stop loss order is generally placed “away” from the current price of a stock / derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the security / derivatives contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the security / derivatives contract reaches the pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the stop loss order converts to a market/limit order and is executed at the limit or better. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a security / derivatives contract might penetrate the pre-determined price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order.

1.5 Risk of News Announcements:

News announcements that may impact the price of stock / derivatives contract may occur during trading, and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the security / contract.

1.6 Risk of Rumors:

Rumors about companies / currencies at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspapers, websites or news agencies, etc. The investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumors.

1.7 System Risk:

11. High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.

1.7.1 During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.

1.7.2 Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if trading is halted in a security / derivatives contract due to any action on account of unusual trading activity or security / derivatives contract hitting circuit filters or for any other reason.

1.8 System/Network Congestion:

Trading on exchanges is in electronic mode, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond control and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. As far as Derivatives segments are concerned, please note and get yourself acquainted with the following additional features:

2.1 Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”:

In the derivatives market, the amount of margin is small relative to the value of the derivatives contract so the transactions are ‘leveraged’ or ‘geared’. Derivatives trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, provides the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the margin amount. But transactions in derivatives carry a high degree of risk. You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually trading in derivatives and also trade with caution while taking into account one’s circumstances, financial resources, etc. If the prices move against you, you may lose a part of or whole margin amount in a relatively short period of time. Moreover, the loss may exceed the original margin amount.

- A. Futures trading involve daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing level of the index / derivatives contract. If the contract has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This amount will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame, generally before commencement of trading on next day.
- B. If you fail to deposit the additional amount by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the stock broker may liquidate a part of or the whole position or substitute securities. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such close-outs.
- C. Under certain market conditions, an investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to factors such as illiquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of trading due to price limit or circuit breakers etc.
- D. In order to maintain market stability, the following steps may be adopted: changes in the margin rate, increases in the cash margin rate or others. These new measures may also be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be required to put up additional margins or reduce your positions.

- E. You must ask your broker to provide the full details of derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

2.2 Currency specific risks:

1. The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency-denominated contracts, whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction, will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the contract to another currency.
2. Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example when a currency is deregulated or fixed trading bands are widened.
3. Currency prices are highly volatile. Price movements for currencies are influenced by, among other things: changing supply- demand relationships; trade, fiscal, monetary, exchange control programs and policies of governments; foreign political and economic events and policies; changes in national and international interest rates and inflation; currency devaluation; and sentiment of the market place. None of these factors can be controlled by any individual advisor and no assurance can be given that an advisor's advice will result in profitable trades for a participating customer or that a customer will not incur losses from such events.

2.3 Risk of Option holders:

1. An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither sells his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose all or a significant part of his investment in the option.
2. The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances.

2.4 Risks of Option Writers:

1. If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.
2. The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the writer has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple 'long' or 'short' position.
3. Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination transactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While this is not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgeable with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

3. TRADING THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY/ SMART ORDER ROUTING OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY:

Any additional provisions defining the features, risks, responsibilities, obligations and liabilities associated with securities trading through wireless technology/ smart order routing or any other technology should be brought to the notice of the client by the stock broker.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

YES Securities (India) Limited., (hereinafter referred to as YSL) as a SEBI registered intermediary is mandated to follow the rules regulations circulars of the exchanges and SEBI issued from time and operates through well-defined procedures and policies. The policies followed by a stock broker pertaining to dealing with clients in regards to points specified herein have been mandated by SEBI to be made available to the clients. It should not be construed that these are the only policies followed by YSL.

(A) Refusal of orders for Penny Stocks:

YSL normally offers trading facility in most of the compulsory dematerialized stocks which are listed on the stock exchanges. The stocks offered by YSL are duly updated on www.yesinvest.in (hereinafter referred to as website). Please note that some of the stocks such as penny stocks, scrips not traded in compulsorily dematerialized mode or scrips which do not meet internal risk and surveillance criteria are not allowed by YSL for trading. Any existing scrip enabled for trading may be deactivated by YSL as and when such scrips meet the criteria as defined by YSL even if the Client had bought such scrips through YSL thereby restricting the Client's ability to sell such scrips. YSL cannot be held responsible for any losses, if any, arising due to deactivation of any of such scrips.

Further clarifications:

The exchange (NSE and BSE) releases a list of such scrips and they are termed as illiquid securities, however YSL retains the right to term a particular scrip as illiquid/penny stock based on the internal risk parameters it deems fit. These parameters may include, the past volume of the scrip, the volatility in the scrip among others, whether trading in a particular scrip falls within the purview of fraudulent trades or trades deemed to be fraudulent under the SEBI – prohibition of fraudulent and unfair trade practices relating to securities market regulation 2003. YSL reserves the right to facilitate clients for placing orders with regards to the penny stocks or illiquid scrips as described above. YSL is not under any obligation to push orders which are in the nature of penny stocks/ illiquid scrips. YSL does not encourage trading in penny stocks.

(B) Setting Up Client's exposure Limits:

Setting Up Client's exposure Limits and margin information including short fall of margins available on website in the trading account or intimated through approved means to be constituted as a valid margin call. Exposure is allowed to the clients based on the margin available in form of funds or approved securities valued after deducting an appropriate haircut as per the rates prescribed by Exchange/YSL. Client is liable to pay applicable initial margins, withholding margins, special margins or such other margins as are considered necessary by the Exchange. Further YSL at its discretion may collect additional margin or may even reduce the margin even though not required by the Exchange. Clients are supposed to maintain sufficient balance with YSL pre-trade depending on the channel through which they trade. YSL may levy additional margins or relax the margins earlier imposed based on factors such as, client level positions, volatility in a particular stock or the market in general. Further, the client will have access to details pertaining to margin requirements, shortfall of margin on a real-time basis on the website itself where he can ascertain details of his existing margin blocked, margins required, MTM loss adjustment, margin percentage etc. The margin requirement specified on the website in the trading account of the online client will be construed as a valid demand for the additional margin required by YSL. Disseminating this information in the client account on the website will be considered as informing specific (one to one) clients about the margin requirements/margin top up calls/margin availability before the square off. Clients are bound to monitor and review their open positions and margin requirements all the times and furnish the additional margin to YSL. Though it shall be our endeavor to ensure that a proper notice may be sent to the clients, this may not always be possible taking into consideration the market scenario on a real time basis. Exposure allowed to clients may vary, basis the clients past trading performance, quality of collateral, market circumstances and dynamics and other such factors. Clients may trade themselves through the internet or may trade through the authorised person or branch. For clients who trade through the internet, the exposure limit may be ascertained by them on the trading portal. Clients executing trades through authorised person or branches may check their positions with the authorised person/Branch. YSL shall not be responsible for any variation, reduction or imposition or the Client's inability to route any order through the Stock broker's website on account of any such variation, reduction or imposition of limits. YSL may at any time, at its sole discretion and without prior notice, prohibit or restrict the Client's ability to place orders or trade in securities based on certain internal risk parameters. By use of Power of Attorney given by client, YSL shall execute 'margin pledge' on Client's securities on behalf of such client to the demat account of YSL to the extent of required margin, as per the regulations of SEBI and Exchanges issued from time to time.

(C) Applicable Brokerage

The brokerage applicable shall be as agreed upon from time to time. Any modifications in relation to the brokerage rate will be prior informed to the client with reasonable time for client to act on the same. The client agrees to pay YSL, brokerage, Exchange related charges, statutory levies and any other charges (including but not limited to security handling charges on settlement) as are prevailing from time to time and as they apply to the client's account, transactions and to the services that member renders to the client as mutually agreed. YSL does not charge brokerage more than the maximum brokerage permissible as per the rules and regulations and bye laws of the Exchanges/SEBI. However, the minimum brokerage as stipulated by the Exchanges will be levied. The brokerage shall be charged as a percentage of the value of the trade or as a flat fee or otherwise, together with the statutory levies as may be applicable from time to time on the same.

Schedule of brokerage along with other applicable charges is specified as Brokerage Chart on page 29

(D) Imposition of Penalty / Delayed payment charges, specifying the rate and period:

Delayed payment charges are levied to clients for nonpayment or delay in payment of their fund obligation on time which may be due on account of charges, margins or any other sum due to YSL. Clients are required to pay margins before placing any trades. Clients are allowed to place margins in form of funds or securities, as per the discretion of YSL.

Exposure is given to the client based on the stocks submitted by the client towards margin to YSL. Appropriate haircut is applied on such stocks. They are then expected to make the full payment for the purchase on the settlement date. In case there is a debit balance in the clients account, the same shall be liable for the delayed payment charges. The calculation of these charges is an automated process. The charges to be levied would be up to 3 % per month or such other rates as may be communicated to the client from time to time. These charges have been introduced so that they act as a deterrent for delaying the payment of funds and it should not be construed as funding arrangement.

In case where any penalty / charges / fees / taxes etc. of whatever nature, is levied on YSL on account of trades or orders placed by clients, such penalty / charges / fees / taxes etc. shall be debited to the client's account. The client will not be entitled to any interest on the credit balance/excess margin available/kept with YSL.

(E) Right to sell client's securities or close client's positions, without giving notice to the client on account of nonpayment of client's dues to the extent of settlement/ margin obligation:

Margin collection - Margin is collected upfront from the clients i.e. prior to executing any trades. Based on the margin thus available with YSL - exposure is given to the client. The applicable margin may vary and the client may be asked to replenish the margin by tendering additional funds or securities.

In accordance with Exchange guidelines, YSL being primarily a web based broker retains the right to square off the position. Disseminating of the details regarding margin requirements and short fall in margin through an approved mode shall be considered as making a specific margin call to the client. Hence all clients are bound to log in to their trading account and keep themselves updated about their positions and margin requirements made available on real time basis.

The client agrees to pay for the shares purchased through YSL before the pay-in date in order to enable YSL to make the requisite pay-in to the Exchange. In case the client fails to make the payment, YSL may liquidate the securities in the clients account in order to ensure that adequate credit is received for the shares purchased. This square off may be done on or before the 5th day of the settlement date.

- The client also agrees to maintain adequate margin for the positions taken in any segment. However, in case the credit available is lower than the minimum margin required, the client's positions would be liquidated in a manner that there is no shortfall of margin.
- YSL shall endeavor to provide additional facility besides making available the margin details on website in the trading account to facilitate the clients towards ensuring adequate margin to avoid liquidation of open position. This information should be constituted as prior information given to the client before liquidation of their positions. YSL may endeavour to inform the client on the registered mobile number and or email id updated with YSL. For clients to whom a login and password is given to access their account on the website www.yesinvest.in, or such other URL that may be provided and informed by YSL from time to time, where they are required to login and check the limit statement uploaded therein. It shall be the clients' responsibility to ensure that adequate credit balance is available in the account. The above guidelines may be changed based on the discretion of YSL and in terms of the market conditions. In cases where the market is volatile and there is a sudden spurt in scrip price then YSL may square off position without any notice due to the paucity of time and other such circumstances.
- Whenever YSL endeavors that the positions are to be liquidated, it shall not be responsible for any liabilities in case the same cannot be liquidated.
- The priority of the positions to be squared off, i.e. which positions to be squared off first, would be at the discretion of YSL. YSL may follow the following priority for squaring-off positions: -
 - a. Lower Margin scrip's will be squared off first.
 - b. Only futures position will be squared off (option position may be square off manually)
 - c. In case where there is a position in cash and derivative segment, options positions would be squared off first followed by futures positions and then cash positions would be square off in case shortfall still exist.
- In case of default by a client of YSL who has pledged securities with YSL, YSL shall invoke the pledge.
- In case of default by a client of YSL where the client's securities are re-pledged with the CM/ CC, the invocation request shall be made by the TM to CM and CM in turn will make request to CC as per the procedure laid down by the Depositories under their bye- laws.

- a. Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/ or sell commodity derivative contract expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the number of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy and/ or sell commodity derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for commodity derivative contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some commodity derivative contracts as compared to active commodity derivative contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may be executed at all.
- b. Buying/ Selling without intention of giving and/ or taking delivery of certain commodities may also result into losses, because in such a situation, commodity derivative contracts may have to be squared-off at a low/ high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any obligation to deliver/ receive such commodities.

iii. Risk of Wider Spreads

- a. Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a commodity derivative and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid commodities/ commodity derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation.

iv. Risk-reducing orders

- a. Most of the Exchanges have a facility for investors to place “limit orders”, “stop loss orders” etc. Placing of such orders (e.g. “stop loss” orders or “limit” orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.
- b. A “market” order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a “market” order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that commodity derivatives contract.
- c. A “limit” order will be executed only at the “limit” price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the client received price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all.
- d. A stop loss order is generally placed “away” from the current price of a commodity derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the contract approaches pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the stop loss order converts to a market/limit order and is executed at the limit or better. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a contract might penetrate the predetermine price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order.

v. Risk of News Announcements

- a. Traders/Manufacturers make news announcements that may impact the price of the commodities and/or commodity derivatives contracts. These announcements may occur during trading and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the commodity/ commodity derivatives contract.

vi. Risk of Rumours

- a. Rumours about the price of a commodity at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspaper, websites or news agencies, etc., the investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumours.

vii. System Risk

- a. High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.
- b. During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in execution of order and its confirmation.
- c. Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if trading is halted in a commodity due to any action on account of unusual trading activity or price hitting circuit filters or for any other reason.

viii. System/ Network Congestion

- a. Trading on the Exchange is in electronic mode, based on satellite/ leased line communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond the control of and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. As far as Futures Commodity Derivatives are concerned, please note and get yourself acquainted with the following additional features: -

2.1 Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”:

- a. The amount of margin is small relative to the value of the commodity derivatives contract so the transactions are ‘leveraged’ or ‘geared’. Commodity Derivatives trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, provides the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the principal investment amount. But transactions in commodity derivatives carry a high degree of risk. You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually trading in commodity derivatives contracts and also trade with caution while taking into account one’s circumstances, financial resources, etc.

- b. Trading in Futures Commodity Derivatives involves daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing price. If the closing price has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This margin will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame, generally before commencement of trading on the next day.
- c. If you fail to deposit the additional margin by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the Member of the Exchange may liquidate/square-up a part of or the whole position. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such square-up/ Close Outs.
- d. Under certain market conditions, an Investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute the transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to factors such as illiquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of trading due to price limit or circuit breakers etc.
- e. Steps, such as, changes in the margin rate, increase in the cash margin rate etc. may be adopted in order to maintain market stability. These new measures may be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be required to put up additional margins or reduce your positions.
- f. You must ask your Member of the Exchange to provide the full details of the commodity derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

3. TRADING THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY:

Any additional provisions defining the features, risks, responsibilities, obligations and liabilities associated with commodities trading through wireless technology or any other technology should be brought to the notice of the client by the member.

4. General

- i. Deposited cash and property:

You should familiarize yourself with the protections accorded to the money or other property you deposit particularly in the event of a firm become insolvent or bankrupt. The extent to which you may recover your money or property may be governed by specific legislation or local rules. In some jurisdictions, property, which has been specifically identifiable as your own, will be pro-rated in the same manner as cash for purposes of distribution in the event of a shortfall. In case of any dispute with the Member of the Exchange, the same shall be subject to arbitration as per the Rules, Bye-laws and Business Rules of the Exchange.
- ii. Commission and other charges:

Before you begin to trade, you should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees and other charges for which you will be liable. These charges will affect your net profit (if any) or increase your loss.
- iii. For rights and obligations of the Members/Authorised Persons/ clients, please refer to Annexure 3
- iv. The term 'Constituent' shall mean and include a Client, a Customer or an Investor, who deals with a member for the purpose of trading in the commodity derivatives through the mechanism provided by the Exchange.
- v. The term 'member' shall mean and include a Trading Member or a Member/Broker, who has been admitted as such by the Exchange and got a registration certificate from SEBI.

Additional Risk Disclosure documents for Commodity Options Trading Risk of Option holders:

Risk of Option holders:

1. An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither sells his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose all or a significant part of his investment in the option.
2. The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances.

Risks of Option Writers:

1. If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.
2. The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the write has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple 'long' or 'short' position.

Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination transactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While this is not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgeable with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

Any existing scrip (stocks & commodities) enabled for trading may be deactivated by YSL as and when such scrips (stocks & commodities) meet the criteria as defined by YSL even if the Client had bought such scrips (stocks & commodities) through YSL thereby restricting the Client's ability to sell such scrips (stocks & commodities). YSL cannot be held responsible for any losses, if any, arising due to deactivation of any of such scrips (stocks & commodities).

Further clarifications: The exchanges release a list of such scrips (stocks & commodities) and they are termed as illiquid securities & commodities, however YSL retains the right to term a particular scrip (stocks & commodities) as illiquid/penny stock based on the internal risk parameters it deems fit. These parameters may include, the past volume of the scrip (stocks & commodities), the volatility in the scrip (stocks & commodities) among others, whether trading in a particular scrip (stocks & commodities) falls within the purview of fraudulent trades or trades deemed to be fraudulent under the SEBI – prohibition of fraudulent and unfair trade practices relating to securities market regulation 2003. YSL reserves the right to facilitate clients for placing orders with regards to the penny stocks or illiquid scrips (stocks & commodities) as described above. Disseminating this information in the client account on the website will be considered as informing specific (one to one) clients about the margin requirements/margin top up calls/margin availability before the square off. Clients are bound to monitor and review their open positions and margin requirements all the times and furnish the additional margin to YSL. Though it shall be our endeavor to ensure that a proper notice may be sent to the clients, this may not always be possible taking into consideration the market scenario on a real-time basis. Exposure allowed to clients may vary, basis the clients past trading performance, quality of collateral, market circumstances and dynamics and other such factors.

This square off may be done on or before the 5th day of the settlement date. - The client also agrees to maintain adequate margin for the positions taken in any segment or exchange. However, in case the credit available is lower than the minimum margin required, the client's positions would be liquidated in a manner that there is no shortfall of margin.
- YSL shall endeavor to provide additional facility besides making available the margin details on website in the trading account to facilitate the clients towards ensuring adequate margin to avoid liquidation of open position. This information should be constituted as prior information given to the client before liquidation of their positions. Dear Investor!!

Subject: Prevention of Money Laundering Act

Money laundering is a process of making dirty money clean. Money is moved around the financial system again and again in such manner that its origin gets hidden. It involves complex chain of activities whereby huge amount of money generated from illegitimate activities viz. selling of narcotic drugs, extortion, corruption, illicit dealing in weapons, human trafficking, etc. is put through a series of process so that it comes out at the other end as clean and legal money.

Terrorist organizations encourage money laundering to support their illegal acts. It is important to note that due to increased vigilance in the wake of threats emanating from increasing terrorism, any failure on our part to discharge the duties cast on us under the applicable laws or we are becoming an instrumental or a part of the chain, even if unknowingly or ignorantly, may invite the trouble.

In order to fight against the money laundering and terrorist financing the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) was brought into force w.e.f. July 1, 2005 in India. Guidelines were also issued in the context of the recommendations made by the Financial Action Task Force on anti-money laundering standards. Compliance with these standards has become imperative for international financial relations.

PMLA is applicable to every intermediary registered with Securities & Exchange Board of India (SEBI), which includes a stockbroker, depository participant, portfolio manager, authorised person and any other intermediary associated with securities market.

As per the provisions of PMLA, the intermediaries are required to comply with Know Your Client (KYC) norms, conduct ongoing client due diligence to ensure that the activity being conducted in any account is consistent with the intermediary's knowledge of the client, its business and risk profile.

In light of the above, you are requested to provide the information or documents evidencing source of funds, income tax returns, bank records, demat holding, etc. at the time of registration as a client with us or subsequently whenever asked for during the course of your dealings with us.
